INTRODUCTION

As stated above, I am Bright Edoka Akogwu, a Corps member currently serving at Borno State University, now known as Kashim Ibrahim University, located in Njimtilo, Konduga Local Government Area. The project was carried out as a personal CDS initiative in a school within my host community. Through this project, over 200 sanitary pad packs (each containing 10 pieces) were distributed to female students. I also educated them on the menstrual cycle, hygiene practices, and other key related topics.

GENERAL AND SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES

General Objective:

Every month, countless girls in these communities are forced to hide, use unsafe materials, or suffer in silence simply because they cannot afford sanitary pads. What should be a normal and natural experience becomes a time of discomfort, embarrassment, and isolation.

In light of this, I distributed free sanitary pads to female students and some parents, with the aim of educating them on menstrual hygiene. This initiative was designed to empower them to become advocates for menstrual education and hygiene within their communities.

Specific Objectives of the Just-Concluded Project:

1. Positively impact over 200 young female students and 30 mothers in attendance.
2. Give back to my host community through meaningful engagement.
3. Provide free sanitary pads to female students to support menstrual hygiene.
4. Empower female students to become advocates for hygiene and community-based initiatives.
5. Create space for questions and answers, addressing concerns that many hold privately.
6. Deliver comprehensive education on menstruation, stress management, infection risks, and foster open, heartfelt discussions about the menstrual cycle and related topics

PROGRAM LOCATION

The "Pad A Girl" 1.0 project was held at Government Technical Secondary School, Njimtilo, Borno State.

SOURCES OF FUNDING

1. Individuals and friends.
2. Religious Leaders.
3. McPherson University Community (Vice Chancellor, Alumni's, Parents, Lecturers and Students')
4. Director of Academic Planning, Kashim Ibrahim University.

PROJECT DATE

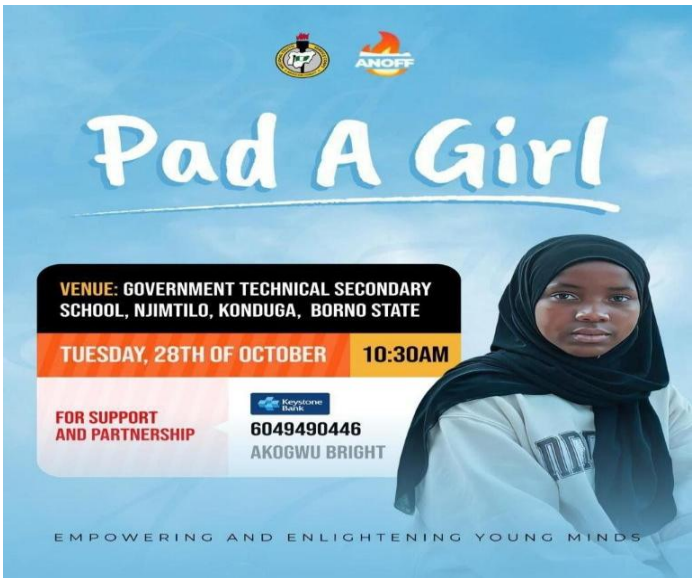

The project was carried out on the 28th of October, 2025, instead of the initially proposed date of the 23rd of October. The change was necessitated by a public holiday declared by the state governor, during which all schools were closed and students were encouraged to participate in a vaccination exercise scheduled for the 23rd and 24th Of October, 2026.

OUTCOME IN ACCORDANCE TO THE GENERAL AND SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES

1. Brought joy to many Nigerians and supported the school management in promoting the education and welfare of female students.
2. Inspired female students to become educators and advocates of menstrual hygiene within their communities, peer groups, and social circles.
3. Provided high-quality 10-in-1 sanitary pads to female students at no cost.
4. Helped reduce absenteeism among female students during menstruation by addressing discomfort and related challenges.
5. Empowered girls through the provision of menstrual pads, enabling them to take control of their education, health, and overall well-being, fostering gender confidence and boosting self-esteem.
6. Fulfilled my Jesus-given passion by giving back to my host community and making a meaningful impact in the lives of young girls.

MEDIA AND PUBLICITY

1. The project was covered and aired by BRTV.
2. It was also featured on NTA, further amplifying its reach.
3. As shown above, several pictorial excerpts from the event have been attached to visually document the initiative.

CONCLUSION

All activities were carried out in strict accordance with the NYSC Community Service Guide. To ensure transparency and accountability, a detailed statement of account was provided. I collaborated closely with my CDS Schedule Officer, the Local Government Inspector (L.G.I), the Principal of Government Technical Secondary School, and the CDS Coordinator of Borno State.

Looking ahead, I plan to launch "Pad A Girl 2.0", a follow-up initiative scheduled for January 22nd to 26th. The goal is to reach and support an additional 600 females with free sanitary pads and menstrual hygiene education.

APPRECIATION

First and foremost, I give all glory to Jesus for the revelation and inspiration behind this initiative. To everyone who played a key role, whether through support, encouragement, or active participation, I salute and deeply appreciate you. I extend my sincere gratitude to the NYSC for granting approval and allowing me to carry out this project under its esteemed umbrella. And to my fiancée, thank you for standing by me and believing in this vision every step of the way.

INTRODUCTION

Passion and the vision grew, and there was the need for More to be done. During the first phase of the project, I realized that Many young ladies knew nothing and/or little about menstrual hygiene and it practices. The second phase of this project reacted out to over 400 students which included teenage girls and some young married women

General Objective:

Every month, countless girls in these communities are forced to hide, use unsafe materials, or suffer in silence simply because they cannot afford sanitary pads. What should be a normal and natural experience becomes a time of discomfort, embarrassment, and isolation.

In light of this, I distributed free sanitary pads to female students and some parents, with the aim of educating them on menstrual hygiene. This initiative was designed to empower them to become advocates for menstrual education and hygiene within their communities.

Specific Objectives of the Just-Concluded Project:

1. Positively impacted over 265 female students and over 130 young mothers in attendance
2. Provide free sanitary pads to all participants to support menstrual hygiene
3. Include speaking engagements for mothers which would help pass the message to more young females
4. Empower female students to become advocates for hygiene and community-based initiatives
5. Create space for questions, and answers addressing concerns that many hold privately
6. Deliver compressive education on menstrual stress management, menstruation, infection risks, and foster open, heartfelt discussions about the menstrual cycle and related topics
